Power Panel Demands Attention

The Power Panel is a unique design element with infinite potential for capturing attention. The Power Panel adds the excitement of backlit illumination to a full size mural panel. The result is a high impact area of your display. Professional designers use Power Panels to emphasize important elements in their displays. Full size backlit images are sure to turn heads and the Power Panel is up to the task!

Its time to use the Power Panel...

- When you need to look unique and be different than everyone else at the trade show.
- When you want the awesome magic of light to grab everybody's attention.
- When you want to drive home the most important point of your design or to pop out your logo, company or product.
- When special architectural elements are needed to add curves, depth and interest to your display.
- When you need to update an existing display with new graphics, crisp copy and a fresh look!

The Power Panel gets your display noticed!
